

GEORGE CALLAHAN.

MAY 26, 1842.

Laid upon the table.

Mr. DOAN, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to which was referred the petition of George Callahan, submit the following report:

The petitioner, George Callahan, appears to have enlisted in the service of the United States in the year 1812, and to have been honorably discharged in 1817. He says he was wounded at Little York in April, 1813; but it appears, from his own statement, that he continued in active service notwithstanding his wound, and appears to have been kept almost constantly upon the march for many months after he received the wound, and, for any thing that appears, without sustaining any injury from it: hence the committee infer that the wound could not have been of a serious character. A physician certifies that he has examined the thigh of petitioner, which, he says, appears to have been wounded, and thinks the muscles are somewhat injured.

The committee are of the opinion that the petitioner does not sustain his case by the necessary evidence, and report against his claim to a pension.
